The Inky Wonderlands 2021 calendar features illustrations from all eight of "illustrator and ink evangelist" Johanna Brasford's adult colouring books, printed on high-quality paper selected by Basford herself. The spiral binding means you can easily transform it from wall calendar to colouring pad, and back again. (Image credit: Amazon) We can all use a reminder of everything we have to be grateful for, and that's exactly what the Simply Blessed 2021 wall calendar offers you. Each month of this 12 month calendar brings a new snippet of wisdom, or a blessing, to help you feel calm, inspired and purpose-filled as you go about your work. I like to do experiments and hands-on activities for preschool science. I also want to share a few sample schedules for ages 2, 3, and 4-5. Then I do a read aloud. You can also create sensory bottles or other activities engaging the senses. Found a new material you like the look of but you're not sure about using in your next project? Math & Science: Preschool math consists of counting, colors, patterns, number recognition, one-to-one correspondence, shapes, sorting, graphing, money, ordering, matching and subitizing. I also make sure we have plenty of time to play outside, do learning games, field trips, and read lots of books! I just find that if I plan out our week for these subjects, I feel more successful. Read more: The key to a successful home preschool year is to plan. I still recommend doing circle time even if you only have 1 child. I sometimes do the read aloud that goes along with our language arts lessons or sometimes it's just a book that I think would be great to read to my preschooler. Each image is accompanied by text accompanies each piece. (Image credit: Peachly) If the organisation offered by the Boxclever isn't granular enough, then this desk calendar from Peachly is the 2021 calendar for you. There's not as much space per day as the Boxclever desk calendar, but each weekly view has six sections: blocks for each day of the week (with equal spacing for weekdays and weekends), a weekly priorities list, notes for next week, a to do list, a habit tracker and a 'dot grid' for taking quick random notes (or doodling!). Keep track of your daily to do list and organise your time into neat hourly blocks to ensure you all get all your sht done! On the other hand, the calendar is small and there isn't a lot of space per day for tracking your projects and appointments in addition to tasks. If you like to view your week as part of a bigger picture, choose this calendar. In the habit tracker you can keep an eye on things like how much water you're drinking, how much exercise you're doing, or that you're having a mindfulness break. There is no final product, just whatever art your preschooler comes up with! These are the subjects I plan out. Featuring 12 high quality images of Banksy's best, recent graffiti art, this calendar will add a touch of artistic inspiration to your wall. Our favourite image is the boy playing with a nurse toy while Batman and Spider-Man lay discarded in a bin. I also like to do songs with movements or fingerplays. The mantas include "Live the simple life," and "Begin each day with a grateful heart", and all sit in beautifully-drawn wreaths with colour schemes to suit the time of year. There's plenty of space for making notes on this calendar, with large boxes for each day of each month. (Image credit: Boxclever) The Boxclever Press desk calendar (opens in new tab) tops our list of the best calendars for 2021 because it's compact enough to stay on your desk without taking up valuable workspace, but is still packed with useful features. The month-to-view pages are clearly laid out and give you enough room to write in important meetings, appointments and deadlines, plus there's a previous/next month view to help you keep track of longer-running projects. Sensory bins are a great way to do this. The designs featured in this calendar have been taken from the Kilburn Album, one of the V&A's most treasured possessions. Process art are open-ended art activities. You can also attach business cards from networking events, or photos of your family and friends if you want to use the calendar to help remind you to keep a good work-life balance. The month names and days of the month are hand-screen printed on a laser-cut and powder-coated metal panel, so while you can change up the look of your calendar, the key dates you need to stay organised won't go anywhere. I recommend between 2-4 per week with preschoolers.) You can download the printable HERE. If inspiring quotes are more your thing, check out the Inspire Daily Desktop Calendar (opens in new tab) instead. (Image credit: Wayfair) This epic magnetic wall-mounted calendar (opens in new tab) from Harry Larry doubles as a photo memo board and so is a great calendar for someone looking to get creative when it comes to organisation. It's a functional blackboard and comes with magnetic accessories so you can attach notes, photos, material samples or anything you like to keep you both organised and inspired. The best calendars for 2021 can help you get organised, and set the tone, for the year ahead. Don't worry though, it's easy to remove and reposition without marking your surfaces. Here's a look at what the sheet looks like. Here's a little bit of what we do for these subjects: Circle Time I have a lot of home preschool moms ask me how to do this, especially if you only have 1 child you are homeschooling. Weeks run Monday to Sunday, and weekends are conveniently highlighted to help you separate your work and free time. Our favourite thing about this calendar has to be the super-useful 'To Do' flip page section: there are 52 pages, one for each week of the year, with a tick box for each line so you can stay organised at a monthly and weekly level simultaneously. It's up to you on how many days you feel like you need to do school. Today I'm excited to share with you my new weekly preschool planner that I'll be using with my 4 year old preschooler this school year! I like to plan out my week on Sunday and gather all the materials I need for my lessons that week. (You'll notice in the picture above that we don't do formal school on Wednesdays. I think circle time is an awesome way to start out the preschool day. Process Art or Crafts: I do process art activities or crafts about 3 times per week. We review over the letter of the week, practice counting together (by 1s, by 5s, or 10s), and do simple patterns with counting bears (AB, AABBB). Here's what the schedules look like: Have a wonderful school year! Pin it to your calendar and work with it in your office or studio for a few weeks first. I am the type that loves to write out my lesson plans on paper. In this guide we've collated the best wall calendars for the design-conscious, as well as the best desk calendars if you want something with more organisational features such as to do lists. The best 2021 calendars for your office or home (Image credit: V&A) If you're looking for something to brighten up your office or kitchen and add a touch of class to your walls, you can't beat the richly-detailed designs of William Kilburn. This stunning wall calendar features 12 designs from the UK's V&A Museum's collection, with patterns in all colour schemes from gorgeous greens and warm yellows, to fresh greens and brilliant blues. Dublin-born William Kilburn (1745-1818) was the most famous block-printed cottons designer of the 18th century. You may be used to using an online calendar, but we think there's no beating a physical calendar. 2 year olds are very young to start formal preschool, so I only do 1 main activity with them (either alphabet or math). For preschoolers, that means doing activities with the alphabet, listening skills, phonics, rhyming words, and handwriting. Then we go through the calendar and weather charts. It becomes a routine and helps the child understand that this is how the school day starts. Write down all your key activities with chalk, and then simply wipe it clean with a cloth when you're ready to move onto the next month. We think this calendar would work especially well in an open studio space, but you can use it anywhere in your home because you can stick this calendar anywhere - walls and windows included. (Image credit: TF publishing) If a little bit of sass and sarcasm will help you stay motivated then this is the calendar for you. If you have older homeschooled kids, it's a good way to do something all together. Language Arts: Language arts cover the areas of listening, reading, writing, and speaking. We usually do 1 activity in either math or science during our preschool day. In our opinion, having beautiful office stationary that combines functionality with design is a surefire way to encourage you to stick to your organisational goals. Creating an aesthetically-pleasing and well-organised workspace will help you feel confident and motivated, making it easier for you to keep on track of your meetings and appointments, as well as break down your projects into manageable chunks. A good organisational setup is as important for your home office as having the best office chair or the best desk, so don't settle for a plain, boring calendar. After he moved to London, he started selling prints, drawings and engravings to print shops. Sensory Play: Exploring the senses is so important for preschoolers. Here is what we do for circle time: We start with a morning song. You might find more notation space for tracking your daily food and water intake when it comes to choosing the best calendar. I would like to add in this idea of a morning message like this on Pre-K Pages. It helps me organize my ideas and keeps me focused on what needs to be taught. If you would like to read more about circle time, I recommend reading this article on 10 Tips for Circle Time. Intriguingly, this calendar is undated so you can start using it any time of the year, and you can save yourself a piece of paper if you go on holiday and miss a week of planning. (Image credit: Banksy) If you're a fan of the Bristol-based street artist Banksy, or any street artist really, then the Banksy 2021 calendar is a great choice for you. This image features on the cover, and went on display in Southampton general hospital earlier this year. Other featured artwork includes the iconic Armoured Dove, and fan-favourite Girl with Balloon. (Image credit: Andrews McMeel Publishing) This doodle-friendly wall calendar is the perfect choice for creatives who love to doodle, or need some encouragement to take regular screen breaks and relax. When you're feeling uninspired, reignite your creative mojo by escaping to magical kingdoms filled with woodlands, plants and flowers, and even fantasy creatures. Motor Skills: Motor skills are for fine motor (small movement) and gross motor (large movement) They are both important to work on! Building up fine motor skills will help with holding a pencil and handwriting skills. We don't do both every day, but we try to. This feature is perfect for your weekly to do lists, or to jot down random reminders that come to mind that you don't want to clog your calendar with. (Image credit: East Urban Home) The East Urban Home Monthly Calendar Chalkboard Wall Sticker (opens in new tab) is the most fun calendar in our roundup. This peel and stick chalkboard wall calendar is fully interactive as you'll need to write the month and days every month, as well as everything you want to keep track of.

15.04.2011 • Thanks so much for this resource. I am a Methodist minister in New Zealand, and plan to use this to speak with the children in my church on Easter Sunday. We also have a daycare centre for pre-school children, and I have used a Christmas nativity set with them before, so I know they will love this Resurrection set.
